Abolish waste authority ...

County seeks landfill change

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - The Glades Transfer Station opened in Belle Glade Monday, November 9 in the midst of an attempt by the County Commission to have the state legislature eliminate the waste authority.

The County Commission voted 4-1 November 3 to ask the Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation to take the necessary steps to abolish the Palm Beach County Solid Waste Authority.

However, a subcommittee of the delegation Tuesday, November 10 voted 3-1 against recommending the abolition of the authority, according to Tim Hunt Jr., Executive Director of the agency.

According to a press release, a majority of the commissioners feel the county is better suited to handle solid waste problems in the county "especially in light of the fact that it already operates three landfill sites apart from the solid waste authority."

In the meantime, the Authority operated Glades Transfer Station in Belle Glade began operation Monday November 9.

"It was just dandy," said Hunt. "I'm very happy that it works dandy."

Padgett named mayor

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council Tuesday night appointed Duncan Padgett to fill the unexpired term of Noma Norman as mayor.

Padgett had served as mayor of Pahokee for 20 years from 1960 to 1980.

Norman resigned early last month after the council adopted a motion to have him removed "as soon as possible."

George Rashley, council president, nominated Padgett to fill the six month term. No other nominations were received, and in a secret ballot, Padgett was elected by the council members, 4-1.

"I want to thank you gentlemen for this honor," said Padgett after being sworn in. "I promise you I will do the best I can, but to achieve anything, I have to have the cooperation of everyone of you. And of course you need some interested citizens. There is a lot of people who can do a lot of good if they'd only take the time to work with us."

The council also heard reports from Director of Public Works Donnie Martin on a resubmitted bill from ComSumat Systems. According to Martin, the city had contracted the company to make an inspection of the city incinerator to help the council determine what had to be done to put it in operation again.

The company made the inspection but never sent the specifications until after the work was near completion.

It also submitted a bill for the services which Martin recommended after paying.

"The only problem I can see you running into is if you ever need them again," said Martin. "Well, $75,000, that's a lot of money to pay just to stay friends," said Councilman George Tills.

The council appointed their attorney, Michael Stauder, to write a letter to the company expressing their point of view.

Martin also reported on work done by Fishback Engineering Incorporated at the incinerator, and the council agreed to purchase a diesel powered wood chipper for use at the incinerator.

In other business, the council:

- Granted a taxi driver's license to Clarence Manderville.

- Adjusted the salaries of two city office employees who have assumed more responsibility since the death of Helen Reeves.

- Permitted City Clerk Betty McCoy to have the carpets in city hall cleaned.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:15 p.m. and will reconvene at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

LONGEVITY AWARDS...

City employees were recognized for their years of service at Monday's Belle Glade City Commission meeting. At right, Mayor Thomas Altman congratulates Police Chief D. Bill Mathis, who has 26 years service.

Exterminator hired

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Housing Authority has hired an individual to take over pest extermination operations in the authority owned units, it was announced at the Authority's board meeting Tuesday, November 10.

The Authority had dismissed Palm Beach Exterminating Service West, Inc. last month, claiming it had not provided the services for which it had been contracted. The Authority decided at that time to opt for in-house control of pests.

According to Executive Director Randall Mills, the individual hired for the job is a female who was trained by Palm Beach Exterminating Service West during her first week of work for the authority.

Man charged with attempted murder

BELLE GLADE - One man was charged with attempted first degree murder and another was left in critical condition in the wake of a Tuesday night shooting in Belle Glade.

According to Inspector Mike Miller, Jean Lesage of SW Fifth Street is in the Palm Beach County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He is charged with attempted first degree murder and carrying a concealed weapon.

Willie James Silvers, 21 of 524 SW Sixth Street, is in critical condition after being shot in the leg and lower back.

According to Miller, Patrolmen Gary Rodriguez and John Runnels responded to a call at approximately 9:03 p.m. Tuesday, November 10, on a shooting on Fifth Street. They went to 542 SW Fifth, but found nothing so they went to 524 SW Sixth where they found the wounded Silvers.

Silvers reported he had been shot so the officers went to 540 SW Fifth Street where they found Rodriguez.

Rodriguez informed the officers he had just shot a man who had been breaking into his house.

He told the police he suspected someone was going to break into his house, so he disguised himself in a gown and wig and sat in ambush in a truck outside his house, according to Miller.

Rodriguez told police Silvers attempted to break into his house and he shot him.

Rodriguez was found with a .32 calibre pistol, according to Miller.

Detective J.R. Eberle is in charge of the investigation.

City unhappy with plan, agreement

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE - Two things were apparent at Monday night's city commission meeting: 1. City fathers are still unhappy with the way the county's comprehensive plan impacts on city annexations, and 2. Commissioners are uneasy about entering an inter-local housing agreement with the county.

The inter-local housing agreement makes city commissioners nervous because they hypothetically could lose control over the community development program within the city.

At Monday's meeting, commissioners addressed the comprehensive plan first.

Commissioners had received a letter from property owners Francisco Pons, executive vice president of Seminole Sugar Corp.; Alberto Torres, president of HI-Te, Inc.; Pedro I. Molina; and Marta J. Molina asking that a previous request for B-2 zoning for Lot 25 and B-2 zoning for Lot 26, located behind Glades General Hospital, be withdrawn.

The property owners asked instead that the land be annexed by the city with the current agricultural zoning.

The county planning department had earlier recommended against the B-2 request, saying that it was not in conformity with the county comprehensive plan and that the development would have an adverse impact on traffic at SR 827A and SR 80.

Property owners had intended to build multi-family residences in the area.

City commissioners discovered that even if they did annex the property, a state law forbids changing zoning to a higher density for two years after the annexation.

Mayor Thomas Altman said the problem with annexing the property as agricultural land now is that a new commission could be seated within the next two years that would not favor development of the area and the city would lose two years of increased tax base.

City Manager Rolfe Wagner said the full two-year waiting period would not be required if the county amends its plan.

Mayor Altman said the city desperately needs more housing and a greater tax base, yet a major project is being thwarted by the plan.

Altman said the ring of low density development described in the county comprehensive plan around Belle Glade is an arbitrary figure.

"There must be some relief for mistakes made during the comprehensive planning process," he said.

Altman recommended the city look into policy-making and legal remedies.

"It seems that any authority the city may have had has been taken away from us," said Commissioner

Bill Grear.

Commissioners approved the first reading of an ordinance which would annex the property with agricultural zoning.

A final reading on the ordinance will be put-off until middle December, while City Attorney John Baker reviews the matter.

Commissioners then took up a proposed urban county interlocal agreement, through which the city would receive community development funds.

Community Development Director Remar Harvin has told commissioners that he believes the city would receive more money through participating with the county.

rather than acting on its own. Concerning commissioners, however, is the lack of a "bail out" clause in the interlocal agreement. City Attorney John Baker said the agreement as prepared would extend until 1984 and the county would have the right to over ride the city during that period. "You cannot get out for three years, unless the county loses its funding," Baker said. Baker said that if the city were to walk away from the program, it would have no way of obtaining funding for three years.

Altman asked for more information about the agreement before the commission's next meeting, Nov. 23.

In other business Monday, commissioners: Approved the Friday after Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve as the floating holidays for city employees.

Tabled a proposed agreement with Florida Power and Light Corp. for the replacement of the city's mercury vapor lights with high pressure sodium lights over a period of years.

Approved an agreement on a year-to-year basis with the Visiting Nurses Association to use office space in the community development building.

Previously, the VNA had set up its headquarters in Glades general Hospital.

Learned that City Manager Wagner will confer with the chief of police on increasing the security of city hall. Thefts have been occurring regularly during the daylight hours.

Set a special meeting for Thursday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

THE GLADES TRANSFER STATION began operation Monday.

Abolish

According to Hunt, the station handled 93.3 tons the first day and the only problems experienced were a flat tire and a slipped gear which was fixed in an hour.

About five truckloads were moved through the transfer station Monday.

Trash and garbage is hauled to the station and the authority hauls it to the Pahokee landfill or the Okeechobee landfill.

The authority charges 21.70 a ton for garbage and 22.10 for trash.

"We're waiting for final engineer approval, but from an operational standpoint, the facility works," said Hunt.

Exterminator

The company agreed to supply training and supplies to the authority for $500 per month.

The exterminator is on the maintenance payroll of the authority, according to Mills.

"She's putting a lot of material out," said Mills. "We're flooding some of those apartments."

The exterminating company mentioned the large amounts being used, according to Mills.

"I told them they agreed to supply us with everything we needed for $500 a month. Nothing was said about the amount," Mills told the board.

The employee is required to treat

25 units per day, according to Mills. "She can spend plenty of time in each unit, then. Not like if she had to do 40 or so each day," said Mills.

The board also repealed a previously passed ordinance raising the rental ceilings from $200 to $215. The resolution was repealed due to an ongoing revision of utility allowances conducted by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

In other business, the board heard reports on the recent occupancy and financial audits and approved drawing a $450 check for the Tenant Organization's annual Thanksgiving dinner.

"My teacher says our memory is like a bank. I think mine has gone bankrupt."

Sharing the heat

Sen. Tom Lewis announced Nov. 5 that he has filed three pieces of tax legislation for the 1982 session.

The bills would require:
The property appraiser to separately specify in the notice of proposed property taxes sent to taxpayers each independent special district in which the taxpayer's parcel lies and each levy which has been approved by a vote of the electors under which the taxpayer owes a tax.

All constitutional officers at the county level will give notice and hold a public hearing on their proposed budgets before submitting them to the board of county commissioners.

An extraordinary vote (majority plus one) of the board of county commissioners, the school board, or city government for budgets which exceed the previous year's by more than 10 percent. We are intrigued most by the proposal which would require all county constitutional officers — property appraiser, tax collector, county clerk, supervisor of elections, and sheriff — to hold a public hearing on their budgets prior to submittal.

The proposal would spread around some of the heat now being felt by county commissioners, who have taxpayers holding them directly responsible for every cent spent in the county.

Constitutional officers would be required to face electors face to face and be prepared to defend budget increases.

With so many hearings being scheduled in the same general period, one has to wonder how many taxpayers would make the special effort to go to each hearing to find out for themselves where their tax dollars are being spent.

Lewis's proposal is interesting, however, and warrants serious discussion in Tallahassee next year.

The first rule of politics

State legislators keep assuring us there'll be no tax increases next year because it's an election year. So maybe the answer to keeping taxes down is to hold elections every year.

The fact is, however, that Florida's cities and counties do need more revenue to replace ad valorem losses caused in large part by the stepped up Homestead Exemptions. Therefore, what our legislators are saying, in effect, is: "We know you need more income to provide needed services but we won't help you next year because it's more important to get ourselves and our colleagues re-elected."

This is a self-serving attitude that should rankle voters even though we are anticipating a brief respite from rising taxes. If the need for additional revenue exists — and there's no doubt that at the moment it does — our legislators should be thinking of our needs rather than theirs. Needless to say, that's why we elected them last time.

If we can't expect any legislators to courageously face the threat of political suicide by supporting higher sales or gasoline taxes, can we at least hope for a promise of holding the line, if not lowering, expenditures during the next legislative session?

The Pahokee City Council rejected an offer made by Pahokee Farms, Inc. to turn over to the City of Pahokee 22 acres of state land which they had under lease, and also promised that additional land would be made available later upon two years notice.

A barbecue and celebration was planned for the arrival of the first commercial barges bringing goods to Belle Glade. Three barges were scheduled to arrive with sugar mill machinery.

A Court of Honor was held by Boy Scout Troop 628 at the Boy Scout Beach in Pahokee. The ceremony was opened with an Indian dance and Magic Fire put on by the Allapattah Council of the Lake Worth Lodge, Order of the Arrow.

Mrs. Otto Blech of Pahokee was appointed as a member of the District 10 Welfare Board of the State Department of Public Welfare. She was notified by Governor Farris Bryant.

Members of the Pahokee Chapter, Future Homemakers of America, cleared $50 from a Sadie Hawkins dance held at the high school. The price of admission was based on the length of the person's foot, at five cents an inch.

The Pahokee Vesper Choir traveled to Belle Glade to present the third showing of its minstrel, "Charcoal Gaities of 51" in the Belle Glade High School auditorium under the auspices of the Belle Glade Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service.

A small claims court was to be established under the State Legislature general act, the county commission decided.

A petition urging the court's establishment was signed by nearly 60 merchants in the Pahokee and Canal Point areas.

The Canal Point Lions Club voted a contribution to the Everglades Memorial Hospital to go toward the purchase of necessary equipment.

The Pahokee Lions were hosts at a father and son luncheon in the Lions Hall with Boy Scouts attending as special guests.

The Soil Science Society of Florida learned of the Glades fire industry at first hand when a bus load visited the Everglades Experiment Station where plots of ramie, kenaf and sansevieria were examined. The drying of kenaf was also observed at the station.

Mrs. Robert Apelgren was substituting as teacher at the Pahokee School that week for Mrs. Elsie Sims who was ill.

Monroe Pope had opened a pawn shop on Rardin Ave. in Pahokee.

Several of the vacant business rooms in the block adjoining the old Prince theatre in Pahokee were taken in occupancy. Otto Blech, Pahokee insurance agent, moved into the corner store room.

The store room adjoining the new Blech office was being remodeled and was to be occupied by Sadies Flower Shop. The room formerly occupied by Hooks' cafe was being redecorated and occupied by Bonnell's Beauty Parlor, and the building just north of the old Prince theatre building was torn down and the lot was to be cleared.

Atlantic Coast Line offices were opened in the York hotel with Perry Harper and C.H. "Windy" Willis in charge.

The Belle Glade Community Center, a non-profit organization held its first meeting of the year and made plans to develop a municipal park as its major project that year.

The Florida Railroad Commission had authorized the Florida East Coast Railway to discontinue passenger service on its Okeechobee branch.

Damage estimated by Fire Chief Sanders to be $11,000 was done by fire to the Streamline Cafe on Muck City road at the outskirts of Pahokee.

Chief Sanders suffered a mashed hand and minor burns and an unidentified man was painfully burned. The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene stove.

Turnips and blood

Turnips and I had one thing in common for many years: you couldn't get blood out of either of us.

Last week turnips and I parted ways. I finally submitted to the needle.

It required no big decision. I just walked over, gave my medical history, let them check my blood pressure, pulse and temperature, and donated a unit of blood. No big deal.

Simple as it was, it was a victory of sorts. There were a number of years after I returned from Vietnam when I couldn't have donated blood even had I wanted to.

Blood banks don't want blood from donors who have just returned from countries where malaria is as common as blocked sinuses are in this country.

So, I had a built-in excuse for not giving blood for several years. For one thing, I wasn't sure that I had enough to go around. I had heard that the needle they stick into your arm is as big as a six inch water main, plus there is a huge amount of pain involved.

I know a fellow who gave blood once, came back to work, turned white, and passed out. It was mostly a psychological reaction to the needle.

"Please don't give blood again," the blood bank attendant told him as she revived the swooning lad.

Finally, I got myself into the right frame of mind and found out just what kind of an experience blood donating is.

After getting the preliminary paperwork and tests out of the way, the donor sits back on a comfortable reclining chair and is given orange juice or a soda to drink. The donor may also be given some Salties if he skipped breakfast and lunch time hasn't arrived.

The attendant then swabs down a spot on the inside of the forearm, gives the donor some reading material — known as the distraction, which explains what is going on — and inserts a hollow needle into a vein.

This is the part that most persons who have never donated are most concerned about. There is less pain than from an inoculation or from a Lake Okeechobee mosquito bite. In other words, there was absolutely no pain. There was a slight stinging, which disappeared in several seconds.

There were two other people giving blood at the same time, a man and a woman. While we squeezed on something that looks like a bicycle handle (to keep that blood moving along into a pint-sized plastic pack), we talked about Judy Garland and the pros and cons of big cities and small towns.

It was all over in a few minutes. There was no light headedness, no dizziness, no nausea, no empty filling. No nothing in fact, except for feeling, if anything, better than before.

My attendant had been careful, concerned, and understanding throughout.

I just relay this to you in case there are one or two of you who also fall into the turnip class.

Blood banks: 1. Almost always need blood. 2. Get blood from you and me, and 3. Provide blood to a good cause when needed.

We all know this, so when the opportunity comes, don't be a turnip, give!

Post office inspectors decided that Belle Glade and Canal Point deserved better post office quarters. New boxes were to be provided for the Canal Point office, and it was understood that the new boxes would be opened with keys.

An ordinance granting a franchise to the Southern Bell Telephone Company passed on first reading at a special session of the Pahokee town council.

There was a filling station at Belle Glade where gasoline was sold at 20 cents a gallon. The operator of the station said he paid the standard price for the gas and made the cut in price himself. The other stations had ignored the cut.

Hunters need proper permits

Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission reminds hunters to obtain proper hunting licenses and permits for the 1981-82 season.

"Sportsmen who are preparing for hunts should be certain to obtain all necessary documents and carry them on all hunting outings," said Lt. Col. Brantley Goodson, director of the Division of Law Enforcement for the Commission.

Virtually all state-owned licenses and permits are available at offices of the county tax collector or their registered subagent. The exception is the state waterfowl stamp which is sold only at the office of the county tax collector. The federal duck stamp, also required of all waterfowlers, is available at U.S. post offices.

Residents 65 years of age or older possessing an average exemption certificate, totally and permanently disabled persons possessing a disability license and children under the age of 15 years, are exempt from obtaining a hunting license, Florida waterfowl stamp, archery permit and muzzleloader permit.

Resident coverage exemption certificates may be obtained at no cost from the office of the county tax collector. To obtain a disability license, present certification of disability to the county tax collector from two licensed physicians residing in Florida or from the Veteran's Administration.

A resident is anyone who has lived continuously in Florida during the most recent 12-month period of time and in one particular county for at least six of the 12 months.

Active military personnel stationed in Florida and full-time students are considered residents when purchasing licenses.

State license and permit fees include, for residents, a statewide hunting-fishing combination (series AK), $17.50; statewide hunting (series K), $11.50 and home county (series L), $4.50. Nonresidents may purchase the statewide annual license (series L) at $50.50 and the statewide, 10 day continuous license (series M), $15.50.

Visitors from other countries planning to hunt in Florida are required to purchase $50 permits. A $10 permit is required of persons guiding hunting parties in the state. The resident and non-resident license for hunting on licensed private hunting preserves costs $5.50.

Hunters planning to participate in special pre- and post-season muzzleloader and archery hunts are required to purchase an applicable permit at $5 each.

Also, all persons hunting on wildlife management areas are required to purchase a permit. The regular permit (series MA) is $10 and the underage permit (series UP) is $2.50. Residents 65 years of age or older are not required to purchase wildlife management area permits.

A state waterfowl stamp costs $3.25. A federal waterfowl permit, not required of hunters less than 16 years of age is $7.50.

Graham urges farmers to get involved with water

DAYTONA BEACH - Governor Bob Graham urged Florida farmers to "get involved" in the process which will ultimately map the state's future water use.

"Already, we have had confrontation over the use of water and the right to use water between the populous Tampa Bay area and neighboring water-rich, but population-poor areas to the north," Graham said in his address to the 1000 farmers attending the 40th annual Florida Farm Bureau Federation (FFBF) convention, Nov. 2.

It's no secret, Graham said, the coastal-metropolitan areas are looking at north and central Florida as new sources of drinking water. He urged the farmers to work with the state's five water management districts and the Department of Environmental Regulation to find reasonable solutions that will not short-change agriculture and the environment.

Graham also said the group should fight the removal of farmlands from the production of food and fiber. Demands of the more than 1000 people moving into Florida daily are to blame for the increased pressures to develop farmland, the governor said.

"Taxes and tax policies are central to any effort to preserve farmlands for farming," he said.

"Here again is where Florida Farm Bureau and its dedicated members can help us in government to try to do what's best to protect agriculture and food production," Graham added.

Other topics covered by Graham included his support for integrated pest management as a means to reduce pesticide use and increased research to lessen the energy dependence of agriculture in Florida.

Lt. Governor Wayne Mixson, Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter also attended the convention.

Gunter asked the Farm Bureau members to work for the preservation of no-fault automobile insurance in Florida during the 1982 Sundown review of the plan.

"The reason for this is clear," he said. "No-fault automobile insurance has helped to hold rates down, reduced court congestion and more fully and adequately compensated accident victims."

FFBF is Florida's largest general farm organization with 93,000 member families statewide.

Look into growing cacti

Cacti are a group of plants that are not only easy to grow but offer a variety of shapes, color and form. They can be grown in any sunny, well drained area and require little maintenance. They make excellent house plants and many hardy varieties may be grown outside.

The Cactus family (Cactaceae) is one of the most striking, distinctive, diversified and specialized. It includes about two thousand species; all are perennial and succulent. Their usually conspicuous flowers are so different from those of all other plant families that the cacti are unique and alone, without obvious relationship to other plants.

The distinctiveness of the cactus family shows itself not only in the flower structure but also in one characteristic, that, although possessed by every cactus plant, is absent in all species of all other families. This is the spine cushion or areole. Whether or not spines are present, all cacti have areoles. This is one way of distinguishing them, for these areoles differ in structure on different kinds of cacti.

The question is often asked, "Is this plant a cactus or a succulent?" This question is nonsensical because cacti are succulents. The true cacti are members of the botanical family Cactaceae and are distinguished from the succulent members of other plant families such as Euphorbiaceae by the structure of the flowers and the presence of the areoles on cacti.

Are you making mistakes?

Although inflation may erode savings, retirement resources and family security, it should not be viewed as a relentless, irresistible force. You can do something to counteract its effects, and help yourself to greater financial security.

Pooling the expertise of over 8,000 members, the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants prepared a quiz that calls to your attention those pitfalls that most threaten to derail your financial plans. CPAs urge these be carefully looked at. If you find yourself answering "yes" to even half of these ten questions, you are probably headed for real financial troubles. If that's the case, remedial steps may be needed.

1. Do you rob Peter to pay Paul? If yes, and you put off paying "covered" for a rainy day, then build an investment pool for achieving your goals.

2. Do you charge everything? If so, maybe you are using credit to buy "things" that will wear out even before they are paid for. Before using credit ask yourself why you want the item; how serviceable is it; and how much can you afford to repay each month? If the price of a major item is rising 10 percent in a year, it may be wise to use credit. Don't forget to calculate the tax deduction on the interest rate.

3. Do you put all your eggs in one basket? If so, you risk losing everything if the basket breaks. Don't put all your money in single stock, commodity, or money market fund. Should that investment fail, so will you. CPAs suggest you diversify to spread the risks.

4. Are you an impulse buyer? If so, you probably have not set goals and spending priorities. By setting goals and a budget, you are less inclined to spend money on impulse. Wise spenders set aside a modest allowance for this sort of spending, thus bringing a bad habit under control.

5. Do you live for today? If so, it means you don't have a financial plan. That lack could lead to your having to live on social security benefits alone when you retire. You must plan for the future. Start now, because the longer you wait, the less you will be able to amass for future goals.

6. Do you keep a nest egg in a savings account? If you do, consider investing it in something with higher yields. Keep in the bank only enough to cover expenses for short periods.

7. Do you believe all your taxes are inescapable? They are not. You'd be surprised how many tax deductions people don't bother to claim.

8. Do you often say, "I just don't know where the money goes?" If so, you had better start finding out. Go through your checkbook and add up what you are spending in quarterly periods.

9. Do you worry about money all the time? If you do, you may lack confidence in your ability to manage money. Talk with financial advisors, read books on money management, set up a good record-keeping system. The more you learn about managing your money, the less you will worry about it.

Disabled American veterans paid price

The screams of the wounded and the tench of gunpowder surrounded Robert Richardson, a private in America's Continental Army, but he fought on until a British cannonball struck his hand spike. It broke in two, one end tearing his belly open. The wind from the cannonball left his right arm useless. Richardson's blood had paid the price of peace and freedom. But, for the rest of his life, he was totally disabled.

For a while, the Continental Congress provided the Revolutionary War veteran a disability pension of half his military salary. It helped, but Richardson was unable to support himself on this meager allowance. Even this pittance ended shortly after the War of Independence when the new national government turned responsibility for disabled veterans over to the individual states and their poor law systems.

Life was tough—really tough—for Richardson and other patriots wounded in the struggle to free America from colonial chains. Many were reduced to begging.

Things are better for the 2-1/2 million disabled veterans living in today's America. But, on Veterans Day this year, it's appropriate to recall what happened to the disabled veterans of our Revolutionary War. What happened to them established a pattern of forgetfulness that's playing itself out again today, just six years after the last American was killed in Vietnam, our most recent war.

Perhaps that's understandable. When wars end, people want to get back to normal, peacetime life, leaving the turmoil and anxiety of war behind. Following the Vietnam War—the most unpopular war in our nation's history with the single exception of the Civil War—the process of forgetting has been unusually rapid. People want to bury the bitter social division of the Vietnam years. That's good, but there's a tragedy in the way we're going about it. When people forget about wars, they tend to forget about the sacrifices that veterans, particularly disabled veterans, have made. And when the public forgets the needs of disabled veterans, so do their elected representatives.

Maybe that's why the Veterans Administration (VA) hospital system has been hit by one budget cut after another for the past five years, forcing the VA to turn thousands of eligible veterans away from the doors of its health care facilities. Maybe that explains why job programs for disabled and Vietnam era veterans have been kept too small to make a serious dent in the employment problems these veterans have experienced. Maybe that's why we've seen, for the first time this year, curtailments in GI Bill educational programs.

Maybe that's the reason veterans' preference in federal employment was attached so viciously back in 1977 and 1978. Maybe that's why the VA and other federal agencies were so slow initially in recognizing the seriousness of such problems as the defoliant Agent Orange, the exposure of Cold War veterans to radiation in atomic weapons tests, and the post-traumatic stress difficulties of half a million or more Vietnam veterans.

Think about it. Could it be that the American people have forgotten the warriors as they went about the process of forgetting the trying times of war? The 700,000-member Disabled American Veterans (DAV) believes this is exactly what happened...not just after Vietnam, but after World War I, World War II, and the Korean War as well. But no veteran of any war should ever be forgotten. Without the sacrifices these men and women made, there would be no United States.

Back in 1903, Theodore Roosevelt said something that nearly every American would probably agree with. "A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to get a square deal afterward," he stated. Looking at veterans' programs realistically, it's unlikely that our country would ever let the plight of its disabled veterans get as bad as it was for Private Richardson and his disabled comrades following the American Revolution. But it would be a mistake to simply assume, without giving it much thought, that all of our political leaders are bending over backward to make sure veterans—even disabled veterans—are getting the kind of "square deal" Roosevelt was talking about.

On Veterans Day, 1981, we must ask ourselves a very basic question. Can we do too much to guarantee a square deal for a sailor whose arms were crushed when a Nazi torpedo smashed through the hull of his ship...for the pilot whose body was burned and disfigured when his plane was shot down over Korea...for the Marine whose legs were blown off by a Viet Cong booby trap in the Mekong Delta...or for the World War I soldier who lost his sight in the Battle of the Marne? Every American owes these people a debt that can never be repaid.

The defoliant debate

During the few, short months since Robert F. Nimmo took over the helm of the Veterans Administration, the always emotional debate over the herbicide Agent Orange, has reached a new fever pitch.

In fact, the controversy has grown so hot that Nimmo kicked off the most recent meeting of the VA Advisory Committee on the Health-Related Effects of Herbicides with a plea to veterans' representatives and scientists on the committee to "help veterans and the news media to understand what is known about Agent Orange."

While I have no intention of subjecting the DAV to the role of an apologist for the VA, I agree that there are some serious misunderstandings on both sides of this controversy that need to be cleared up.

There are quite a few people today who have very strong convictions about whether or not Agent Orange and other chemical defoliants have had harmful effects on the health of veterans of the Vietnam War. Both sides of the debate have been impassioned in arguing their points, and both have cited scientific evidence to back up their viewpoints.

However, the truth is that no one really knows anything about the health effects of these dioxin-bearing herbicides, except that Agent Orange has caused a severe skin rash called chloracne. The evidence on a relationship of Agent Orange to other disabilities is incomplete and inconclusive.

Each time one side in the Agent Orange dispute throws up a piece of scientific evidence in support of its arguments, the other side knocks it down with conflicting evidence. In the meantime, many thousands of Vietnam veterans live with fear hanging over their heads as they await the results of more conclusive research.

I was a soldier in Vietnam when these chemicals were being sprayed over the jungles of Southeast Asia, and I'm concerned over the Agent Orange controversy — just as concerned as any other veteran who was there.

Before I explain what has happened in this heated debate in recent months, let's make one point clear. The DAV's job is to represent the interests of veterans, and we intend to carry out our responsibilities to veterans exposed to Agent Orange to the fullest extent.

It took years to win the battles that finally brought justice to veterans who were exposed to ionizing radiation during atomic weapons tests. And we're definitely prepared to stick it out through a long battle to make sure that veterans exposed to Agent Orange get a fair shake from the VA and the rest of the federal government.

Several thousand Vietnam veterans have asked the DAV to represent them in claims for service-connection of disabilities they believe may have resulted from exposure to Agent Orange or other chemicals in Southeast Asia. We will continue to aggressively pursue those claims.

We will file new claims when exposed veterans bring them to us, and we will refute those claims when new evidence on Agent Orange becomes available. No one can offer veterans more expertise in the handling of disability claims than a DAV national service officer, who is backed up by our organization's entire National Service Program.

Service-connected disability benefit claims are our specialty, and we're going to fight it out for the veterans we represent before the VA's claims adjudication system.

We will also maintain the strongest pressure on the VA and other federal agencies to complete speedy but thorough research on the herbicide question, research that's fair to Vietnam veterans.

This commitment was reaffirmed in Resolution No. 231, which was passed unanimously by the delegates to the DAV national convention last summer. The DAV states the resolution, "calls upon the VA and other responsible federal agencies to vigorously pursue every scientific and medical investigative technique available to determine the etiological relationship between dioxin-related agents and disabling physical conditions which may have developed in persons previously exposed to such substances."

Also adopted unanimously by the DAV's national convention delegates was Resolution No. 232, calling for "legislation which would extend an open-ended presumption of service-connection for any identifiable residual disability or disease incurred by veterans exposed to the chemical defoliant Agent Orange or any other phenoxy herbicide."

In addition, the DAV supports legislation now under consideration in Congress that would allow the VA medical system to treat any disability that a VA physician believes may be related to Agent Orange exposure. Written by the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, this legislation has been passed by the full House of Representatives. It was being considered by the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee as of this writing.

As a Vietnam veteran, I believe the DAV actions and positions I've outlined here represent a course of action that is both responsible to the needs of veterans exposed to herbicides in Vietnam and reasonable in terms of what we know about Agent Orange.

Some Background
Agent Orange was most commonly used of several powerful defoliant chemicals sprayed extensively in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam War to deprive the enemy of ground cover and destroy his food supply. The chemical got its name from the orange stripes that marked the 55-gallon drums in which it was shipped to the war zone.

Millions of gallons of Agent Orange were sprayed liberally over more than five million acres of Vietnam, approximately 12 percent of the country's land area, between 1962 and 1970. Usually sprayed from U.S. aircraft, the defoliant was most heavily used from 1966 to 1969, when American troop strength in Vietnam was at its highest.

I was in Vietnam in 1968. Like most ground troops at that time, I was thankful for the use of these chemicals. They killed Viet Cong and North Vietnamese ambushes and provided open fields of fire, thus saving American lives and holding down our casualties.

However, few precautions were taken to protect our GIs from anyone from exposure to Agent Orange and other dioxin-bearing herbicides. The extreme toxicity of dioxin, a contaminant found in minute quantities in phenoxy herbicides like Agent Orange, wasn't known at the time. Therefore, no one thought to limit Agent Orange sprayings to restricted areas, and these chemicals were almost certainly sprayed beyond sprayed areas bywind and by water flowing through ditches, streams, and rivers. In addition to sprayings over jungle and forest areas, the defoliants were also used around base camps, compounds, roads, and ditches used by American forces.

The Department of Defense (DoD) viewed these chemicals as a boon to U.S. ground forces. However, in the late 1960s a few scientists began to express concern over use of the chemicals, and apprehensions in the scientific community became so great by the end of the decade that DoD decided to end sprayings in the war zone.

The possible dangers of dioxin to Vietnam veterans first came to widespread public attention in 1978, when Maude DeVictor, a VA veterans benefits counselor in Chicago, became fed up with authorities who would not listen to concerns over Agent Orange.

When she went public with these concerns, the national media immediately picked up the story. News coverage about Agent Orange has proliferated in the media ever since, making Agent Orange an issue on the national agenda.

When all of this controversy broke loose three years ago, it was readily obvious that no federal agency wanted to assume responsibility for the veterans who believed their disabilities, and in a few cases the birth defects of their children, had been caused by exposure to defoliants during the war.

The VA was particularly resistant at first. Of course, the agency was faced with the possibility of disability claims and health care costs that could amount to hundreds of millions of dollars, and caution was in order. But the rock-hard stance the VA took early in the Agent Orange debate has left thousands of exposed veterans suspicious of the agency.

Seeing the foot-dragging of the VA, DoD, and other federal agencies to an issue that potentially affected the lives of up to 2 1/2 million Vietnam veterans, the DAV and other groups raised an immediate outcry.

By 1979, the VA was taking the problem seriously enough that Max Glanville, then the agency's administrator, formed the VA Advisory Committee on the Health-Related Effects of Herbicides to counsel the agency on dealing with the Agent Orange issue. However, the committee was made up entirely of government scientists, health care professionals and representatives of chemical companies with obvious vested interests.

Taken aback that no Vietnam veterans were named to the committee to represent the interests of veterans, the DAV pressured the VA into appointing our Special Projects Officer, Robert H. Latham, to fill this role on the committee. Since then, Vietnam veterans from four other organizations have been appointed to the committee to share this advocacy role.

Charges of VA ineffectuality to the Agent Orange issue were rife during 1978 and 1979 with good reason. High-ranking officials were not taking the problem seriously, behaving as if they wished the whole controversy would just go away. Research on the effects of dioxin-bearing herbicides was progressing at a very leisurely pace.

Continuing pressure from the DAV, other veterans' groups, and the media have resulted in a more responsive attitude among VA managers and in other federal agencies. However, the suspicion of many Vietnam veterans understandably persists: once burned, twice cautious.

Glades Day prepares for Homecoming

Paige Pool, Cheryl Hooker & Tammy Scruggs, Homecoming Candidates

Glades Day School's Homecoming activities will culminate this Friday night with the crowning of the 1981 Homecoming queen at half time. The Homecoming court is composed of three senior girls who were chosen by their classmates. They are Cheryl Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooker; Paige Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Poole; and Tammy Scruggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scruggs, Jr.

Activities began Monday with the start of Spirit Week. Each day has been designated as a special day with students dressing for the activity. Spirit days have been Hawaiian Day, Grub Day, 50's Day, Sports Day, and Country Day.

On Friday, students will participate in the annual "Miss GDS" contest at the pep rally. This hilarious activity includes male students who will be dressed as "beauties" and will compete for the prize of Miss GDS.

Friday evening's activities will begin at 7:30 on the football field with the Homecoming parade. All classes have been working to decorate their entries for this parade. The overall theme is "Gators Go Country" and each class (7-12) has chosen its own theme to go along with the country theme. The parade will be led by the three Homecoming court members.

Beautification parade, clean up day held in Belle Glade

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - Tidy Tim was there. So was the Glades Central marching band and the Cub Scouts.

It was Belle Glade's annual Beautification parade last Saturday. A parade of about 25 entries formed beside Glades Central High and marched through the town to Lakeshore Middle School.

Tidy Tim, portrayed by 2 year old

Brad Allen Davis, had a prominent spot near the beginning of the parade. He won the Tidy Tim look-alike contest earlier in the day.

Other entries included a fire truck, a variety of floats, several groups out for the walk and to show support and, of course, a garbage truck.

After the parade broke up, a concession stand was set up across the street from the school and children were given a free hot dog and soda for every bag of garbage they gathered.

Earlier in the week, $25 saving bonds were awarded to the winners of a slogan and poster contests. Mario Matos won the poster contest and Heriberto Suarez won the slogan contest with his entry "Don't be a kiddy about litter."

Glades business revue

Charlette's - Glades pet shop

Where can you go if you're in the market for a finch? Or a canary? Or a Red Oscar? How about an aranda? There is only one place in the Glades that carries all of those animals and provides the equipment necessary to care for them - Charlette's, located on Avenue L in Belle Glade.

Charlette's has been in business for eight years, and, according to owner Charlette Mulvaney, business has been "terrific."

Her daughter-in-law, Tina Mulvaney, has "more or less run the shop" as a manager, according to Charlette.

The store carries a wide line of birds, including finches, love birds, canaries, mynahs, doves and macaws.

It also carries fish, such as Red Oscars, arandas, Siamese Fighting Fish, Elephant Nose, catfish, goldfish and angel fish.

They can offer advice on which fish can live with each other and how to care for them.

Most of the varieties they carry can live with each other, but some fish cannot live with other members of the same variety, according to Tina.

The Siamese Fighting Fish, for example, would fight each other to the death if two or more are put in the same community.

Red Oscars eat several varieties of smaller fish, and the buyer can be told which fish should not be put in the same tank with them.

Although they do not keep them in the shop, Charlette's can obtain dogs or cats for customers.

They do offer dog and cat grooming services at the shop, and sell a wide variety of items for pet care, including leashes, aquariums, food, beds and even car seats.

"We've had suppliers tell us that we have more than some big shops," said Charlette.

Parakeets and finches seem to be the most popular birds, said Charlette, although she cautioned "One week its one thing and the next week its another."

CHARLETTE'S offers a wide range of pets and pet supplies. Charlette Mulvaney, second from left is the owner. Tina Mulvaney, kneeling, is the manager. Elouise Mobley is at far right.

Baker - Buss exchange vows

BELLE GLADE—Linda Ann Baker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Allen Baker of Belle Glade, became the bride of Warren H. Buss, son of Mrs. Virginia Buss and the late Woodrow Buss, also of Belle Glade on Sept. 11.

The 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony took place at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade with the Rev. Joe Ed McGahey officiating.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar banked with palms, a large arrangement of white gladiolus, mums and fugi mums, arched candelabra and two spiral candelabra.

Mrs. Pat Stedham sang "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. Mrs. Karen Corbin was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. J. Allen Baker. She chose a gown of organza and chantilly lace sprinkled with pearls. The cathedral train was of chantilly lace. The veil was a cathedral length mantilla of sheer tulle, edged in chantilly lace and pearls.

County purchases land for housing

By Jeff Brown
PAHOKEE — The County Commission Tuesday, November 3, approved the purchase of a three and a half acre tract of land in Pahokee for the construction of replacement housing.
 The county paid $117,000 for the property and intends to build replacement housing for low and moderate income persons in the Pahokee area in association with the Housing and Development Act of 1977.

According to John Greene of the Housing and Development Authority, the commission is concerned with the condition of "substandard housing" in the area and the acquisition of the land is first step in replacing that housing.

He said the next step is a site analysis and that the project could be completed in a year and a half. Problems with financing or in other areas could bring the completion date back, he added.

According to Greene, moderate income cannot exceed 80 per cent of the mean income of the income of the area. He said the mean income of Palm Beach County is $18,500 and that 80 per cent of that would be near $14,000 or $15,000 per year.

 He said he doubts that the three and a half acre site would be capable of handling the problem in the immediate vicinity of the tract.

General hunt season to begin

TALLAHASSEE — Landowners are people too and hunters are reminded to be considerate of them when planning outings during the general hunting season which begins November 14 in Florida.

"Private landowners should be contacted ahead of time by hunters to get permission to enter private property throughout the hunting season," said Lt. Col. Brantley Goodson, director of the Division of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

He also reminded hunters to be familiar with all rules and regulations before taking to the field and particularly those concerning wildlife management areas. Goodson encouraged hunters to enjoy their outings this season but be careful to protect the natural beauty of Florida's wilderness setting, ensuring that they and other hunters properly dispose of ammunition boxes and other throw-away items.

"Florida is fortunate to have this wide range of wildlife to harvest each year. This is due not only to proper management of the resources, but also to the spirit shown by sportsmen in complying with regulations and respecting the lands on which they hunt," he said.

The November 14 opening will see the start of the antlered white-tailed deer season, with a daily bag limit of two, a possession limit of three and no season limit. Permits for taking of antlerless deer are available on some private properties. Hunters are encouraged to contact their nearest regional office of the Commission for details.

Also opening will be the second phase of the mourning dove season, with all day hunting allowed, beginning one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily bag limit is 12 and the possession limit is 24.

The turkey season also opens with the taking of only gobblers in Leon, Gadsden, Wakulla and Jefferson counties in the Northwest Region, no other turkey hunting allowed in remaining counties of the north-west region.

Gobblers may be taken only in Alachua County in the Northeast Region and either sex turkey in the remaining counties of the Northeast Region, and in the Central, South and Everglades regions (with a daily bag limit of one, a season limit of two and a possession limit of two).

The statewide turkey season which opens November 14, will end January 10, except for certain counties in the Northwest Region. An error was made on posters and wallet cards distributed recently by the Commission concerning the closing date for the turkey season in the Everglades, South, Central and Northeast regions.

Also opening will be the bobwhite quail season in all areas of Florida with a daily bag limit of 12, a possession limit of 24 and no season limit. The gray squirrel season will open with a daily bag limit of 10, possession limit of 20 and no season limit.

Fox squirrel season opens except in Lee, Hendry, Palm Beach, Monroe, Collier.

In addition to a special requirement for anesthetists, nurse are being sought to perform in clinical positions and such specialty areas as mental health, environmental health, operating room nursing, and maternal-child health. According to Recruiting Service officials, 625 positions are open specifically to general duty nurses with Bachelor of Science in Nursing degrees.

Applicants are given an initial base of choice option provided a vacancy exists. However, nurses will know where they will be assigned prior to accepting their commission. Once commissioned as Air Force Officers, they are assigned to medical facilities throughout the world, ranging in size from small out-patient clinics to large hospital.

Letters to the editor

Editor:

I would first like to thank all those parents who have become part of our Basketball Parent's Organization of last year.

This year I would like our organization to be even stronger and much better than last year.

We are going to hold our first meeting on Sunday, Nov. 15, 1981, at 4 P.M. in the Main Campus Library. At that time I would like to meet our new parents and reacquaint myself with some of the "regulars". At that time I will explain what my goals and aims are for our players.

This organization can only be as strong as we want it to make it, and it can only help our players if we take an interest in this organization. I urge you to please attend so that we can have a supportive club and also a successful season.

We also at that time would like all our officers to attend this meeting.

Sincerely,
 /s/George Mattes

EDITOR:

Because our law enforcement agencies usually receive much more criticism than praise I would like to commend the Pahokee Police and Sheriff Deputies for the quick and efficient manner in which they apprehended a burglar in our home before he could escape.

To these fine men who risk their lives everyday to protect us, I say a very sincere Thank You.

Mrs. C.L. Wilder

Boca Raton Bobcats edge Pahokee, 9-6

KENNY RAWLS (32) carries the ball for the Blue Devils in last Friday's game against the Boca Raton Bobcats. Despite a gutsy effort, the Devils lost the game 9-6 in the closing moments of the fourth quarter.

CDS loses to Boca

By JEFF BROWN

"I think next year we should do a lot better," said Woody Salvatore, coach of the Christian Day Crusaders.

The Crusaders, now 3-5, lost Saturday when they traveled to Boca Academy.

"The second half was a lot closer - the score was 7-6 in the second half," Salvatore said. But second halves do not a football game make.

The first half must be traversed to arrive at the second. And Christian Day had trouble getting through the first two quarters Saturday.

The Boca Academy gridiron squad put 34 points on the board in those 24 minutes, and held the Crusaders to zero.

"We gave the ball up several times inside the 30 - on the goal line practically," said Salvatore. "They only made three first downs and 34 points. Our defense held them. The only long run they had was on a punt return. They had only 193 total yards. Basically, we gave them the ball."

And when it was over, the Crusaders had given Boca Academy a 41-6 victory.

Quarterback Tipso Paz had the ball 17 times and completed five for 79 yards and a touchdown. He was also intercepted twice and rushed a dozen times for seven yards.

Robert Echols snagged two passes for 49 yards and a TD, and picked three yards in one carry.

Robert's brother Phillip caught two passes for 16 yards and rushed 10 times for 30 yards. Joey McMahon caught one pass for 14 yards.

The Crusaders six points were scored in the fourth quarter when Tipso Paz connected with Robert Echols in a 19 yard touchdown pass.

This Saturday, the Crusaders host Lake Highland at Lair Field in Pahokee at 2 p.m. Lake Highland is undefeated and ranked in the state 1A class.

"Hopefully, if we can get our heads together, we can give them a good game," said Salvatore. "It is our last game of the season and it is at home, and it will be the last game for a couple of seniors. We'll work on turnovers this week and try to get them cut down. We've shown a little improvement in penalties."

The season is about ready to close for the Crusaders and Salvatore is looking ahead to next season.

Only two team members graduate at the end of the year, which means most of the team will be returning.

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Blue Devils went into last Friday's game as 14 points underdogs.

The Boca Raton Bobcats, a class 4A school, were supposed to tear the class 2A Blue Devils to ribbons.

The Bobcats won 9-6, but it took an untimed down with no time left on the clock to do it.

"We played an exceptional ball game," said Blue Devil Coach Sandy Hyneman. "We were really pleased with the effort. Its a shame to lose a close one like that, but it seems like every game we lose is a close one."

The Blue Devils led the game 6-3 going into the fourth quarter. They scored in the first quarter when Jeffery Mullins ran 49 yards to carry the ball over the goal line. The attempt at a two-point conversion failed.

Defense proved the name of the game from that point until the end of the contest.

"The entire defensive line did a real good job," said Hyneman. "It stopped them four or five times from scoring."

The Bobcat defense also did the job, holding the Blue Devils scoreless for the remainder of the game.

The Bobcats finally got on the board in the third when John Duryea kicked the first of three field goals.

Late in the fourth quarter, it looked like overtime when Duryea again hit a three pointer.

But the odds took over at that point and Boca Raton drove to field goal range with one second on the clock.

Regulation time vanished on a defensive foul, and in accordance with the rules, Boca Raton was given a chance at an untimed down.

Duryea sent the ball through the uprights for the game winning field goal.

Craig Tomlin was carried off the field in an ambulance, supposedly with a fractured ankle, but according to Hyneman, an x-ray did not reveal any breaks.

"I don't know whether he'll be back or not," said Hyneman.

Antonio Wilson completed two of five passing attempts for 36 yards.

He connected with Earl Sanders once for 27 yards, and Kenneth Rawls for a nine yard completion.

Wilson's luck wasn't as good on the ground. He lost 16 yards on six carries.

Mullins was the leading Devil rusher, carrying the ball 102 yards in 18 carries and scoring the only Devil touchdown.

Rawls carried the ball 10 times for 45 yards and Paul Buxton rushed 16 yards in three carries.

Tomorrow night, the Blue Devils, now 3-5, host the Glade Central Raiders, 6-3, at Lair Field.

"It looks like we don't get any breaks or breathers," said Hyneman. "You can throw everything out the door when Pahokee and Glades Central play. They have a quarterback who is leading the county in passing, I think, and they play an unbalanced line. The (Raymondo) MacDonalld is just a super receiver, so we'll be looking for that."

"We're going to refine our running game and work on our passing game some," Hyneman said. The game will start at 8 p.m.

Another chance for dove

TALLAHASSEE -

Sure, Saturday, Nov. 14 marks the start of the general hunting season when everyone and his cousin will be heading for the woods after deer. But to a dedicated group of sportsmen, that date means something else - a chance to once again search wits with those winged wonders known as doves.

Mourning doves are the most hunted and most harvested migratory game bird in North America, and say some experts, the most frustrating. Nothing can be more humbling than sitting on the edge of a field trying to down one of these speedsters. A fall dove shoot is perhaps one of the South's most honored traditions.

November 14 marks the start of the second phase of dove hunting - wildlife agencies. To with shooting hours ensure complete compliance with these regulations, hunters are urged to contact their nearest Game and Fish Commission Office for a copy of the current migratory game bird regulations. Offices are located in Tallahassee, Panama City, Lake City, Ocala, Lakeland, and West Palm Beach.

Being a migratory bird, dove hunting regulations are established by the federal government and enforced by state

EMANUEL THORNTON

South Bay runner on champion team

The hard work and many long hours of sweat have been rewarded for the 1981 Miami-Dade North Cross Country team and its coaching staff of head man Roosevelt Richardson and assistant John Mixon.

Emanuel Thornton of South Bay has played a major role in Miami Dade's 1981 state championship cross country team. He is a graduate of Glades Central Community High School.

This past weekend, in the state cross country meet held in Melbourne, Florida the Falcons won their first ever state championship by outdistancing five other state opponents. The Falcons scored 34 points while the next best team Sanje Fe Community College totaled 57 points.

Following the conclusion of the state meet head coach Roosevelt Richardson was awarded the 1981 Florida Community College and National Junior Collegiate Athletic Region VIII Coach of the Year honors. It marked the first time that Richardson had won this particular award but certainly not the first time that the Miami-Dade North coach has been selected for his excellence as a coach. Richardson the head coach of Miami-Dade Track and Field team has also received similar coaching honors in 1977 and 1980 for his contributions to track and field.

Now the team and its coaches could be headed for future acclaim as they prepare for the National Junior Collegiate Cross Country Nationals to be held at Wichita, Kansas on Saturday, Nov. 14, 1981. The meet is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m.

The Falcons eight man squad will attempt to win the school's first ever national title in cross country. The sport was reinstated by the North Campus this past summer after the M.D.C.C. New World Campus was forced to drop the sport.

The Falcons runners will be led by Emanuel Thornton, Henry Jones, Harry Garcia, Patrick Topp, Kerry Fagin, Jerry Leslie II and Doug Buckley.

In the state meet Thornton was the Falcons best finisher, placing third with a time of 26:33. In fifth place was the talented Henry Jones (McArthur H.S.) with a time of 26:43, sixth place went to sophomore Harry Garcia (Custer H.S.) who ran the 5 mile course in a time of 26:55. Sophomore Patrick Topp had a seventh place finish with a time of 27:16.

Glades Day loses slug fest to Frostproof

By JIM JONES

With time running out in the 1981 football season, Frostproof's 33-21 win over Glades Day School Friday, Nov. 6, may have ruined the Gators' chances of finishing among the top 10 Class A teams in the state.

The loss dropped the Gators to 5-3 and completely out of the Florida Sports Writers Association Poll. The previous week, the Gators were among the teams receiving votes.

The sports writers were apparently unimpressed that Glades Day's three losses were at the hands of Fort Lauderdale Pine Crest, the number one rated Class 2A school in the state; Benjamin School, the number two rated Class A school; and Frostproof, the number seven rated Class A school.

Going down to defeat against Glades Day have been Class 2A schools Lake Placid and Fort Pierce John Carroll. John Carroll, is state playoff bound with a district championship already wrapped up. The Fort Pierce school lost to Glades Day 28-0.

Frostproof severely damaged Glades Day's poll aspirations Friday with a deadly passing attack and the ability to score quickly from any part of the field.

Frostproof quarterback Anthony Jenkins passed for 289 yards and four touchdowns. Wide receiver Mike Barnett accounted for 223 of those yards and was able to repeatedly get himself open in the Gator secondary.

The Gators managed to shut down the Frostproof running game, allowing only one yard. The Gators' offensive attack was more balanced than Frostproof's, featuring 224 passing yards and 173 rushing yards.

Glades Day struck first in the game. Following an interception of a Jenkins pass at the Gator 43 yard line, the Gators put together a five-play drive culminating in quarterback Raul Garcia's 25 yard touchdown pass to senior wide receiver Tommy Wilson with 5:14 left in the first quarter.

The try for extra point failed. Frostproof came right back, however, and displayed a trick that occurred all evening: the ability to immediately answer a Gator score with one of their own.

With two passes, Jenkins moved the Bulldogs from the Frostproof 12 to the Gator 17. The second pass was a 28 yarder and defensive back Scott Meredith postponed the touchdown by pushing Barnett out of bounds.

Three plays later, Jenkins passed eight yards to Barnett in the corner of the end zone to even the score at 6-6 with 3:46 remaining in the first quarter.

Gator end Richard Schiele blocked the Bulldog try for extra point to keep the score tied at six all.

The two teams opened the second quarter with an exchange of punts. Glades Day then went back ahead in the game following a 67 yard drive which ended in senior kicker Todd TOBIN VANSICOY (left) and Frostproof's Bulldog defenders as he bulled for yardage in a Friday Frostproof triumphed over the Gators with a deadly passing attack. Glades Day School takes on Moore Haven Friday, Nov. 13, at home.

Raiders snap 2-game losing streak; beat Westwood

By JEFF BROWN

"Ooh yeah, that was a good feeling," said Glades Central Football Coach Ben McCoy. "That was a good feeling."

McCoy was referring, of course, to the Raider victory over Fort Pierce Westwood last Friday night.

The Raiders snapped their two-game skid and up their record to 6-3.

They drove 60 yards in the opening minutes of the game, a drive which culminated in a four yard touchdown run by Quarterback Jacob Rhames. They then held Westwood for the remainder of the contest as the offense proved ineffective the rest of the night.

"We didn't get too much in offense," said McCoy. "Just wasn't getting the blocking."

Both teams settled into a defensive battle which almost completely shut down the offense of both teams.

The Glades Central defense gave up only nine first downs and a total of 98 yards. It resorted to a hard

The Westwood defense held the Raiders to six first downs and 100 yards.

Rhames, who leads the Raiders in passing, accounted for all of the Raiders' seven points, turning the ball over the goal line for the touchdown and kicking the extra point.

The Raiders travel to Pahokee for the final game of the regular season Friday night.

"We'll be working on the blocking game," said McCoy. "Got to get that down. And we'll be working on passing."

"We'll be looking at the scouting report, see what they got, see what they like to do and see what their weaknesses are so we can do something to stop them," said McCoy.

When the Raiders go to Pahokee, their first opponent will be the winner of the Suncoast Fort Pierce Central game to be played Friday night.
